Parexel Showcases Industry-Leading Hematology Expertise with Presentation of 10 Research Posters at the American Society of Hematology (ASH) Annual Meeting

December 4, 2025

Scientific and medical presence at ASH underscores Parexel's proven expertise at premier event for classical and malignant hematology

RALEIGH, N.C., Dec. 04, 2025 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- Parexel, a leading global clinical research organization (CRO) providing insights-driven Clinical and Consulting solutions to the world's life sciences industry, today announced the company has been selected to present 10 research posters at the 67th American Society of Hematology (ASH) Annual Meeting and Exposition Dec. 6-9 in Orlando. With onsite attendance by the Global Parexel Hematology team, this year's presence highlights the company's differentiated leadership in the field.

"Our significant showcase at ASH this year reflects Parexel's specialized scientific and medical expertise in hematology and our commitment to partnering with leading biopharma sponsors to advance hematologic research through rigorous scientific inquiry and real-world research," said Scott Smith, M.D., Ph.D., Global Therapeutic Head, Hematology. "We look forward to sharing our latest findings in this critical therapeutic area and connecting with experts around the world to discuss innovations that can improve outcomes for patients with blood cancers and other hematologic malignancies."

Parexel has contributed to hundreds of hematology projects globally in the past five years, including nearly 50 Phase I hematology projects. As an industry leader, hematology and oncology represent a significant portion of Parexel's clinical projects, with hematology initiatives spanning tens of thousands of planned patients and operations across more than 60 countries worldwide. The company collaborates with 120 hematology Parexel Alliance Sites around the world and leverages the expertise of former regulators on staff from the U.S. Food and Drug Administration, European Medicines Agency, Pharmaceuticals and Medical Devices Agency (Japan) and more.

Members of Parexel's hematology team will present new research findings in seven live and three virtual poster presentations.
