

Parexel's Teri Karcher Named to 2024 PharmaVoice 100

October 8, 2024

Chief Drug Development Officer and Executive Vice President, Head of Launch Excellence recognized for pioneering leadership in drug development

DURHAM, N.C., Oct. 08, 2024 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- Parexel, one of the world's largest clinical research organizations (CROs) providing the full range of Phase I to IV clinical development services, today announced that Teri Karcher, PhD, Chief Drug Development Officer and Executive Vice President, Head of Launch Excellence, has been named to the 2024 PharmaVoice 100 list of inspirational leaders in the life sciences industry. Dr. Karcher was recognized for her innovative approach and significant efforts in forging new paths in the drug development paradigm — elevating Parexel's site relationships to new levels of success and demonstrating an innate ability to lead with empathy and inspiration while maintaining a deep commitment to improving patient lives.

"Throughout her tenure at Parexel, Teri has continuously empowered her team to incorporate our Patients First core value into all aspects of their work — growing Global Launch Excellence in terms of both functional lines and global footprint," said Peyton Howell, Chief Executive Officer. "Her commitment to innovation and quality delivery continue to elevate the bar in our ability to deliver for our customers, sites and patients."

As Chief Drug Development Officer and Executive Vice President, Head of Launch Excellence, Dr. Karcher works across internal stakeholders, sites and customers to enable a seamless and efficient drug development process. Her leadership in establishing the Global Launch Excellence team has been transformative, creating a cross-functional unit to optimize study start-up planning and execution while significantly strengthening Parexel's site relationships. Under her leadership, Parexel has been consistently recognized for the company's dedication in fostering strong partnerships with investigative sites worldwide, recently earning the Society for Clinical Research Sites' Eagle Award in the CRO category for the second consecutive year. Dr. Karcher's commitment to patient-guided drug development is evident in her leadership of Parexel's Patient Strategy and Patient Engagement teams, ensuring patient voices are integrated into the overall strategy and enhancing site and patient activities at the study level. Dr. Karcher's comprehensive approach ensures a dedicated focus to driving excellence beginning at launch and continuing across the entire study lifecycle.

As part of three decades of clinical research experience, Dr. Karcher joined Parexel in 2012 as a Portfolio Director and has held roles of increasing responsibility with the organization, including most recently Executive Vice President, Global Head, Enterprise Account Group and Partnership Center of Excellence. Prior to joining the CRO industry, Dr. Karcher held research faculty positions in Psychiatry and Behavioral Sciences at both Duke University School of Medicine and the University of Miami School of Medicine. Her experience also includes working as a Clinical Psychologist providing healthcare services to patients.

Founded in 2005, the PharmaVoice 100 highlights the driving forces of the life sciences industry who have positively impacted their colleagues, companies and communities. Each honoree is chosen based on personal accounts describing how profoundly inspirational the honoree has been to their colleagues and peers in their respective fields.

About Parexel
